Why do I concept map using Cmap?
start here
What I wanted
was a 'thinking and reflecting tool' which can express relationships between concepts be edited and updated help me work out and understand stuff be shared with and 'read' by others which is supported by established body of theory and research can be done with has different rules and conventions more fexible layout dffers from mind mapping Concept mapping
offers
ways to quickly represent and define relationships between concepts opportunities to compare and learn from others' maps international community of users can be done on computer with Cmap
is easy
to learn
use
teach
available as Freeware from IHMC works on and across
PC
Web
Server
Mac
iPad
which I use for individual notetaking
e.g.
at workshops and presentations teaching
and
IT WORKS!
so
Always ready to talk, workshop etc Please get in touch. Peter Hartley profpeter1@me.com to be disseminated through National Teaching Repository presenting
as in constructing diagrams
inbuilt presentation tool mentoring and coaching
e.g
supporting NTF/CATE applicants research
as in Visual Thinking Project and the Global Notetaking Survey and in